“Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me and I in him. Just as the living Father sent me and I have life because of the Father, so also the one who feeds on me will have life because of me.”

FR. BOB'S WEEKLY BLOG

What do we mean by "world" when we discuss the spiritual life?

Biblically, it has two distinct meanings: the "world" may mean the earth or cosmos or creation as the theater of redemption, or the "world" may mean a "spirit" that organizes human beings, movements, social and political order without God. (Fulton Sheen)

Let's face it, something is not right. Something has gone wrong. Things are not as they should be. Even a self-professed atheist senses it and often cites the reality of evil in this world as evidence for his unbelief. He'll begin, "How could a loving God allow ... ?"

And yet, where does the atheist's sense of good and evil come from? He is right in being disgusted by airplanes being turned into weapons to crash into buildings. He is right in being repulsed by children being sexually abused. He is right in his disdain for the everyday senseless violence in our streets or the corruption in governments and churches.

Far too many folks today either make fun of or openly discard the Judeo-Christian notion of The Fall and Original Sin. Because of this, far too many folks have no context for why things are as they are. The doubters and challengers get stuck on the specifics of the story (Adam and Eve, the Garden of Eden, the serpent) and miss the truth of what the story is trying to convey; things were created good, and something terrible happened. We lost grace.

And all of humanity has since been affected by Original Sin, the sin of our first parents. This stain of Original Sin fractured our relationship with the Creator (God). Sin, evil, and death are real, and we -- the human race -- are in need of a Savior.

Okay, Fr. Bob, thanks for the reminder, but why does this matter now?

Why? Because we are being torn apart. That's what the Greek word diabolos means; to tear apart. The goal of the diabolic is to tear us apart; to tear us away from God, and to tear us away from one another, to tear us away from our core identity. And without proper context, we end up playing blame games with our fellow human beings.

Whites blame blacks, and blacks blame whites. The Chinese are the problem. People from the "south" are the problem. The rich are the problem. The poor are the problem. North Koreans are the problem. South Koreans are the problem. Europe is the problem. People who vote for Democrats are the problem. People who vote for Republicans are the problem. Religious people are the problem. Non-religious people are the problem. Heck, Cubs fans are the problem. Wait, no, White Sox fans are the problem. Oh well, just blame Packer fans.

If only we could get rid of "them," the world would be a better place, all the while someone views you as a "them," to be gotten rid of. The Serpent cackles in perverse delight.

Do you get the picture? Original Sin has messed us up. If we don't accurately see the problem, then we can't accurately see the solution. The problem is the reality, in this world, of sin, evil, and death, which are the fallout from Original Sin. This problem affects all of humanity. No exceptions. Every race. Every tongue.

So, what's the solution? Better yet, make that Who is the solution? This is a one-word answer – Christ. His suffering, death, resurrection, and ascension (Paschal Mystery) is for ALL of the human race. Grace is now available to us in and through Him, and we NEED grace. The Lord now feeds us in many ways, but most intimately he feeds us His very own Body and Blood in the gift of the Eucharist. He feeds us because our souls need nourishment (grace).

Jesus says in today's gospel, "I am the living bread that came down from heaven; whoever eats this bread will live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world."

He died for us. Will we live for Him?

Quote - "Sin is the second most powerful force in the universe, for it sent Jesus to the cross. Only one force is greater – the love of God." -- Billy Graham liturgy. This is easier said than done of course, as children or other concerns can prevent us from remaining silent. It doesn't mean that the needs of our kids are to be looked down upon, but we just need to look for other ways to restore our interior calm.

FR. KEVIN'S GREGORIAN RANTS

As Christians, we find that God often speaks in the silence and quiet. Elijah encountered God in the small whispering sound and Jesus would retreat to a mountain to pray. However, silence can be confusing, distracting, empty, or frustrating as we are forced to face our thoughts head on without distraction. We want God to tell us what to do and when to do it.

God isn't withholding himself in the silence, and one of the best spiritual lessons we can learn is that just sitting and existing in the presence of the Lord is very good. God is real and when you are in relationship with him, it is a real relationship. In real relationships, sometimes it's pleasant and sometimes we want to run away. In many ways, God wants to show us that he is not just another voice; he doesn't just want to cut through the noise, but with his help eliminate it to be with him alone. Think of all the times Jesus silenced demons and evil spirits. It wasn't in competition with the devil, but in removing the noise altogether.

Silence keeps us close to the loving, providential presence of God and fits us to meet and respond to it without hesitation in total and loving generosity to God's will. It also exposes and points to our reliance on God. St. Augustine said that God sometimes delays in giving us what we want because he wants our hearts to expand. The more ardently we desire something, the more ready we are when it comes and the more we treasure it. Through silence we become more deeply aware of the beauty, unity, goodness and truth all around us and within us. We are reminded of all the things of God that cannot be put into words.

The silence we experience on Sundays during Mass help us to foster times of engaging with silence throughout the week. Even though the Lord may seem silent, it doesn't mean he isn't involved. He's personally interested in the details and is actively working out every situation according to His good purposes. Remind yourself what you know to be eternally true about God: He is good, he loves me, he is with me, he knows what I'm going through, he cares, and he has a good plan for my life. We live in an increasingly noisy world that makes demands our attention. Silence is a gift through which God is reaching out to us, relating to us, and teaching us.

On the opposite end of the spectrum from music at Mass is silence. Often, the small moments of quiet we can get at Mass are among the few we get during the week. We may want to fill those silences with instrumental music or something else to distract us, but silence is an integral part of the liturgy. When the priest is silent, it is not accidental, but an encouragement for all to quiet our restless hearts and minds.

The missal even spells this out for us and differentiates between particular times for silence. It states, "Sacred silence, as part of the celebration, is to be observed at the designated times. Its nature, however, depends on the moment when it occurs in the different parts of the celebration." The silence during the Penitential Act allows us to recall the things we are sorry for. Following the priest's invitation, "Let us pray," we recollect ourselves and recall our intentions for this particular Mass. After the homily, we mediate on the readings and the priest's or deacon's words. After Communion, we praise God in our hearts and thank him for the great gift we have received in the Eucharist.

We can even enter into silence before or after the celebration of Mass. At THM, we try to keep the church quiet in order to facilitate this silent communion in preparation for Maybe you're someone who sang in a choir when you were in grade school or high school. You should consider joining the parish choir. Or maybe you're someone who sang on stage in the theater or a garage band. You'd probably love to sing in the choir. Or you might just be that person who's always among the first to sign up for karaoke or belting it out with the oldies station as you drive down Archer Avenue. Choir is waiting for you!

The parish choir rehearses Wednesdays at 6:30pm at St. Symphorosa and alternates singing for the 9am and 10:30am masses on Sundays beginning in mid-September until early June. We also serve on Christmas Eve & Day and during the Holy Week services.

New and returning members are asked to call or email by September 8 so that the correct number of choir binders and chairs can be prepared in time for the first rehearsal.
