FR. BOB'S WEEKLY BLOG

Jesus is praying that we find our way, in this life, closer to the Center. Heaven will be eternal life in complete union with God; life in the Holy Trinity. This is our heart's deep longing; to be one with God ... with Love.

God must remain at the center. The wheel analogy teaches us this important spiritual lesson. Woe to us when we think the wheel doesn't need a hub; doesn't need a center. We soon discover that the spokes collapse as we deny the hub (God).

Think about an old-fashioned wagon wheel.

In the center of the wheel is the hub. Going out from the center are the spokes. As the spokes get farther from the center, the spokes get farther from each other. In other words, the closer to the center, the closer the spokes are to each other.

We can use this as an analogy in the spiritual life. God is the center. The people are the spokes. The closer we are to the One who is Love, the closer we are to each other. The farther we drift from the Center, the farther we drift from one another as human beings.

Is this analogy perfect? No! But it does help paint a picture for us.

Let's call to mind Jesus' prayer to the Father in chapter 17 of John's gospel.

Jesus says, "I pray not only for them, but also for those who will believe in me through their word, so that they may all be one, as you Father, are in me and I in you, that they also may be in us, that the world may believe that you sent me. And I have given them the glory you gave me, so that they may be one, as we are one."

This union with God can begin in this world. Our relationship with God starts now, in this world. We need God's grace. For Christians, the relationship began the day of our baptism. This relationship must be nurtured. The good Lord has given us everything we need to stay in this relationship; to remain in God's love.

Lent is a good time to remind ourselves that there is a Force in this world that works against God's love. This unloving Force seeks to pull us farther and farther away from God and farther and farther away from one another as human beings. It also seeks to pull us away from our own self, so that we no longer primarily see ourselves as human beings made in the image and likeness of God.

This unloving Force is making strides today in an increasing dehumanization taking place across the planet but especially in Western countries where God is being either rejected, ignored, or denied. Who or what will fill the God-shaped hole in the human heart? If we do not allow God to be the one who fills our hearts (grace), we go looking for cheap substitutes that soon turn into idols (false gods). Those substitutes for God fall under four main headings: wealthy, pleasure, power, and honor/fame. These substitutes, ultimately, cannot satisfy us. Authentic love can.

The good Lord desires that all be saved. God desires no one's eternal damnation. The invitation from Jesus is to "come and see." The invitation from Jesus is to "follow me." Love is a summons not an act of coercion. Jesus didn't use a sword to convert the world. He used the Cross. He offered His Body and Blood as the sacrificial Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world. Our response to Love matters. We can say yes, or we can say no.

Faith is our YES to God's love. Jesus will be the center of our lives, and from this center flows everything else, including our love for neighbor.

Quote -- "I tell you, charity to our neighbors for God's sake is the fire that cleanses the soul." --

St. Catherine of Siena

FR. KEVIN'S GREGORIAN RANTS

The final section of the Creed speaks of the Church and some of her central beliefs and practices that flow from the clear picture of the Trinity it has already laid out. The Church was intended and established by Jesus Christ, not some accidental organization that sprung up from the teachings of some guy. She extends the Incarnation to the present day and safeguards the beliefs that came from revelation. A central assertion of the Creed is that Jesus did indeed want a Church.

We identify our Church by four "marks", or aspects: one, holy, catholic, and apostolic. A Church bearing these marks indicates that it is the same body that Jesus left for us and promised would exist forever. While they ultimately require faith for full acceptance, the marks are observable and reasonable to the human mind. These marks are Trinitarian, which mean they are connected to God and are inseparable from him. So, what do we mean by each mark?

First, the Church is one. This speaks to the unity of all followers of Christ and sets an ideal that we actually live in this unity. Because the source of the Church is one in our Triune God, so she is one. The Holy Spirit remains the soul of the Church, unifying all believers in a communion that is deeper than any other human organization. This doesn't mean that there isn't diversity within the body; what is important here is the source of the different gifts and graces given and how they are brought together to worship and to serve God. We profess one faith, we receive the one Body as communion, and we worship one God.

Second, the Church is holy. She is not simply a creation of humankind, but is founded by God in the person of Jesus. We are called to be holy as our Heavenly Father is holy. It may seem impossible that a Church that is made up predominantly of human sinners with weaknesses and limitations. However, the Church was founded to continue Jesus Christ's redemptive and sanctifying work in the world. "Holy" as a mark does not refer to the holiness of the individual members of the Church, but instead the gift of holiness that the Church bestows on her members. Holiness is the outcome of sanctification and is derived from our being in relationship with God.

Third, the Church is catholic. You may think, "Well duh, we're called the Catholic Church." We call it that for a reason. "Catholic" is derived from the Greek word katholikos, meaning universal, encompassing all, and applicable to the whole. As affirmed by the earliest of the Church Fathers, the Church is universal and is open to all persons, regardless of gender, race, age, or any other factor. She is on a mission, sent by Christ, to bring the Gospel to all peoples. Also, the Church is catholic because the fullness of salvation comes through her because Christ is present fully in the Church.

Finally, the Church is apostolic. She was passed from Jesus through the apostles and continues to carry on the apostolic mandate to make disciples, to baptize, and to teach. Today, the authority of the apostles rests in the bishops, who can each trace their ordinations back to the original Twelve Apostles. The bishops are assisted by priests and are held in union by the successor of Peter, the pope. Through the power of the Holy Spirit, the Church guards the deposit of the faith and hands it on to future generations until the second coming of Christ. The mission given to the apostles and transmitted to their descendants is the same mission that Jesus received from the Father. As the symbol of unity, the pope knows himself to be "the servant of the servants of God."

No other church or community on earth can claim all of these marks. Our Church, founded by Christ, has remained one, holy, catholic, and apostolic, even through several ages of persecution and threats to disunity. If any one of these marks is removed or diminished, the Church as Jesus founded her would no longer exist. In understanding these marks, we can better appreciate the nature of the Church and our place within it.

PARISH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mission Mondays Lent 2025

March 31 - Speaker: Fr. Kevin Feeney (@ St. Rene)

We welcome Fr. Kevin Feeney to our parish as he helps lead us closer to the One who is our hope ... Jesus, the Christ.

In this Jubilee Year of Hope, it is important for us to be mindful of God's plan of salvation.

Fr. Feeney was born in Chicago and raised in Berwyn, Illinois. He was ordained to the priesthood for the Archdiocese of Chicago in 1977.

The following are his assignments: Epiphany Parish (1977-83), Mundelein Seminary (1983-1991), St. Sylvester (1991-2000), Mundelein Seminary (2000-2013), Sheil Catholic Center at Northwestern University (2013-2021), and Joseph & Mary Retreat House (2021-current).

We thank Fr. Feeney for sharing his faith, wisdom and humor with us.
