FR. BOB'S WEEKLY BLOG

reminds us of who we are and whose we are. Consider the fact that the words silent and listen consist of the same letters.

Scripture can also be intimidating. There are many folks who commit to reading the Bible. They start in Genesis chapter one and usually get as far as the Book of Numbers or Leviticus before they lose interest or get too lost and feel overwhelmed by the volume of information.

Take a step back. Start with one of the four Gospels. Choose Matthew, Mark, Luke or John, and read that specific Gospel in its entirety. As you read, allow yourself to stop and ponder on occasion when something stirs in your heart. Bring it to prayer, too. There is a reason a word, phrase or passage resonates with you. Don't just quickly move on. When you are done with one Gospel, choose and start another one until you've spent time in all four gospels. Then move on to Acts of the Apostles. There is time for the Old Testament down the road.

By getting to know Jesus better, we are getting to know God better. Jesus is the face of the Father. St. Jerome reminds us, "Ignorance of Scripture is ignorance of Christ."

As we get to know God, we find ourselves deepening our love for the One who is Love. We mature from seeing God as a Divine Dictator and more as Divine Mercy. Yes, God has established boundaries, parameters, and guardrails (Commandments) for humanity, but we should view these "house rules" the way a child begins to understand mom and dad's house rules; not arbitrary but in our best interest. "Don't touch the hot stove, Johnny."

Knowing God and loving God flows into service; faith in action. We do not stand idle awaiting a magical spaceship that is going to take us to heaven. No! Instead, we put love into action by serving God by serving those in need.

We pray "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." After we pray it, we then cooperate with God's grace to make it more of a reality on earth. For example, in addition to praying for an end to hunger, actively find a person who is hungry and provide a meal. That's love in action, but this love in action begins by our spending time kneeling (worshipping) in front of the One who is Love.

Our weekly communal celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is so important. Both prayer and Sacred Scripture are part of Holy Mass. We also celebrate the Eucharist which brings us closer to God and closer to one another. As we mature in discipleship, we move away from "I have to go to Mass," toward "I get to go to Mass." In turn, this moves away from fear of hell and toward love of heaven (God). All about perspective!

Why did God make you? Now you know the answer. Now we can LIVE the answer.

Quote -- "God's love for us is not greater in heaven than it is now." -- St. Thomas Aquinas

If you were to ask someone today why God created you, what kind of response do you think you'd hear?

We might hear, "Um, I really don't know." Or we could hear, "There is no God, and life has no purpose or meaning."

Our hope is that a good many folks would echo the answer made famous in the old Baltimore Catechism, which read, "God made me to know him, love him, and to serve him in this world, and to be happy with God forever in the next."

Some people dismiss the old catechism answer as too rote and more about impersonal memorization of Church-given answers. However, the answer given in the old catechism rings true today, and not only should we commit it to memory, but we should also allow it to pierce our hearts and take up residence.

Why did God make you? God made you to know him, to love him, and to serve him in this world, and to be happy (blessed) with him in the next."

Two concrete ways to get to KNOW God better are prayer and sacred scripture reading/reflection. Sometimes prayer becomes too much about what we have to say or more about our requests of God, when prayer should also be intimate quiet time with the Lord where we also listen to the still small voice that

FR. KEVIN'S GREGORIAN RANTS

Following his Resurrection, Jesus stuck around on earth for 40 days, appearing to many of his followers to give hope, encouragement, and final teachings. At the end of those 40 days, he gathered with his disciples on Mt. Olivet near the city of Jerusalem. He gave them the Great Commission: "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, 20 teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age." Then, he was lifted up and taken into heaven in his Ascension.

There are two common questions when it comes to the Ascension of Christ: 1) Where exactly did Jesus go when he ascended, and 2) Why did Jesus have to leave?

When we think of Jesus ascending, we might imagine him blasting through outer space like Superman, zooming towards a place beyond the stars. Of course, this isn't what or where heaven is. It's hard to describe a "where" for heaven because it is outside of our known created space and time. We shouldn't take that to mean heaven isn't a place and is instead some mass communal projection in our minds. Heaven is where God is; we are in heaven when we are fully unified with the Holy Trinity. We say that Jesus is seated at the right hand of the Father. Again, we shouldn't think of heaven as a giant palace with the Father sitting on a massive throne. Remember our discussion of symbolic and analogical language. We are limited by words even if God is not. The right hand of the King was the place of greatest honor. We see it most often referenced in the Psalms to show intimacy, closeness, possession, authority, honor, and power.

From that "position", Christ remains as King and Lord forever having redeemed mankind from within. This means that a person with a human nature is at the Father's right hand. He didn't shed his humanity as a part of the Ascension. In the Ascension, he completes his exitus-redditus, the setting out and returning to dwell with the Father forever. At the right hand, Jesus is not subordinate to the Father but shares equally in power and judgment.

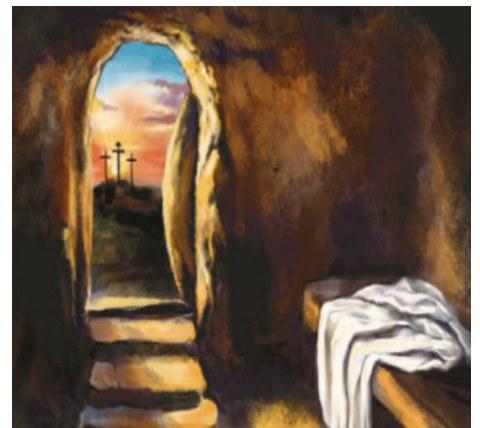

So then, why did Jesus have to ascend at all? Wouldn't it have been better for him to stay on earth and run the Church in person? In answering questions like this, we can be assured that whatever Jesus did was the most fitting for our ongoing salvation. Amidst the many ways it could have gone, our all-knowing and all-loving God would not have done it in a way that was lacking or not ideal.

Jesus spoke in the Gospel of John that it was necessary for him to leave so that the Holy Spirit could be sent as our advocate. This meant the indwelling presence of God could spread and not be spatially bound. Yes, Jesus was divine, but in his humanity, he was bound to a single space at once. There would be much clamoring and confusion as to who was closest to Jesus and therefore had authority. By ascending, the authority of Christ as King of the universe and head of the Church could be fully demonstrated.

There were plenty of people who heard and witnessed what Jesus did, yet still ignored him. That's to say that seeing Jesus in person is no guarantee that you would choose to follow him. Many had the chance and chose to remain in their own ways. Christianity is more than just seeing and believing, but in submitting the entirety of our lives to be in relationship with the Creator and Savior of the universe.

It's tempting to think our faith would be easier if Jesus had just stayed. In handing over his presence and authority to the Church, it guaranteed the involvement of all of its members. The life of Christ passed into the Church so that the Great Commission could be fulfilled and all would have the opportunity to hear the Gospel. He gave us the mark to aim at – don't resign yourself to remain on earth, but follow him in the Church so as to be united with him eternally in heaven.
